Weather Conditions Prevent Full Attendance at Good Roads Meeting Last Night.

Meeting Last Night.

A intering of the board of directors of the Richmond Division of the Quebec-to-Miami International Highway Association was held in Room 530 of the Jefferson Hotel last night. Samuel Cohen was elected chairman of the meeting, while Robert B. Allport acted as secretary. Because of weather conditions, it was decided to postpone the meeting until next Tuesday night at $130 o'clock, at which time committees will be hamed to take charge of the canvass in Richmond for the purpose of raising $75,000, the sum which this city is expected to appropriate.

The chairman addressed the meeting and told of the great value which the proposed highway would be to Richmond. Ho also spoke of the enthusiasm which had been aroused throughout the country along which the roadway would pass. Following the chairman, J. G. Corley addressed to meeting. His words simply added to the argument already advanced. He thought it was the duty of the clithens of Richmond to give the sum needed. A letter from Richmond Council, No. 162, United Commercial Travelers, was read, in which that organization also heartly indersed the proposed route via Fredericksburg, and offered its services toward accomplishing the purpose of the organiza-

Alcos Fail to Land Franchise

At a meeting of the Amateur Basebail Commission, held in the armory of the First Virginia Regiment Inst night, rules for the playing season were adopted. A committee was appointed to attend a conference with a like committee from Washington for the purpose of adopting uniform rules for the intercity series. It is not known when this meeting is to be held, but it is thought that the two committees will get together at a very carly date.

An application for a franchise was received through Mannager Seamons for the Alco team. He presented his cause, after which the commission went into executive session. It was the sense of the commission which was unantimously adopted, that while it would be well to have the Alcos as a meunier of some amateur lengue, final disposition of the question would lie with the lengues themselves, as it was an internal affair affecting the circuit of the two Class A leggues. The rules were, however, amended so as to admit the lengues to increase their circuits to eight closs, with the approval of the commission.

Department of Justice May Cause Trouble in National Commission.

"The men highest in basebail declare that they would court any action as is contemplated by the measure of the Illino's legislator, and that they will, in all probability, be forced to offer a strong defense of the machine moided in the past ten years, is the opinion of those who are most familiar with basebail politics.

"While there may be some justification for Mr. Gallagher's charge that the National Commission is stifling competition and maintaining unfair territorial limits, the feature that will be the principal subject of attack will be the principal subject of attack will be the principal subject of attack will be the present clause in the player's contract. As the document now reads, a man who once signs becomes the property of the powers that be for the rest of his baseball existence. This has often been declared involuntary servitude, but whenever some disgrunted player has talked of taking the matter into the courts the whole thing has usually been hushed ut.

"That the reserve clause would stand a trial before any legal tribunal is doubted by many, but, on the other hand, the National Commission has long contended that unless such a rule should prevail it would be impossible to conduct baseball on its present high plane.

Probably no play produced on the American stage in the past decade has created the amount of favorable discussion from people in all walks of life as has "The Fortune Hunter." This has been emphasized most conclusively by a record of two scasons at the Galety Theatre, in New York, and a run of one year in Chicago, 'The Fortune Hunter" is an ideal comedy its atmosphere is absolutely free from vulgiar thought and suggestion. To quote from the extensive vocabulary of ex-President Roosevelt. "It is as clean as a hound's tooth." In writing 'The Fortune Hunter, 'Winchell Smith set at naught the theory of many of its contemporaries that Amarican amplement-seekers elamor for imported French and German plays and the salaciousness that their translation entails. Mr. Smith tells a story in "The Fortune Hunter" that is entirely plausible. In fact, it is a true story, which has happened and is happening every day, and he has told it in so masteriy a manner as to convince his critics of the moral he undoubtedly intended to convey.

Department Stores Organizing League

The Department Stores League of Richmond, to be affiliated with the amateur baseball of Richmond, is now organizing, and will have teams representing each of the larger stores in Richmond. Already Kaufmann & Co, have signed the men composing that team. L. Kaufmann has been elected manager, with E. J. Kaufmann as captain. It is expected that the personnel of the other teams will be announced in a few days. The lengue will probably contain six clubs, and will be a Class A organization.

Ford Motor Cars NATIONAL DRAWS ON YOUNG LEAGUE

Lynch's Organization Now Willing to Try Out American's Discards.

Chicago, March 12,—American League discards are no longer a scarce article in the National League. It was not so many years ago, however, that the old league in its supreme dignity absolutely refused to give a trial to any players who had been let out by its rival. In fact, it has been only recently that the National Leaguers became willing to admit that the American was but little better than a minor league. Consequently, they could not see how they could be benefited by the acquisition of any players that were not good enough for the B. Johnson circuit.

were not good enough for the B. Johnson circuit.

Things have Changed of Late.

But things have changed in the last few years, and now there are thirty-seven players on the National League reserve lists who have appeared on the American League rosters in the past. Brooklyn is the biggest home of former American League rosters in the past. Brooklyn is the biggest home of former American Leaguers, as Charley Ebbeis seems to think that any player passed up by a manager on the other circuit is good enough for him. At any rate, he has on his list at present Daubert, Stark, Vingling and Higgins, former Naps, in addition to Smith, who was bought by Cleveland a year ago and turned over to Nashville without a trial. Ottnicleder Jud Daley was once an Athletic recruit; Catcher Erwin was once a. Tiger, while Steele pitched for the Red Sox and Darger for the Yankees. Jerry Downs, bought from Columbus, was a Tiger for several scasons, while Northen was with the Browns for a brief period.

Boston Has Veternns.

Boston has a collection of five former American pastimers in Cy Young. Otto Hess, Scotty Ingerton, Jay Kirka and Houser, the big first sacker, who was Harry Davis's understudy. Cincinnati has an even half-dozen in Grant and McLean, each a Nap for five minates. Bob Bescher, a Tiger recruit. Suggs, another ex-Tiger; Frank Smith, late of the White Sox, and Bob Keefe, who used to pitch for the Yankees. Frank Chaine is another who believes that former American League players are good enough for him. He has Jimmy Archer, who did not appeal to Hughey Jeanings, Wilhur Goode, formerly of the Naps and Yankees; Charley Smith, who served with the Naps, Nationals and Red Sox, and Shean, one of Connie Mack's recruits a few years ago.

The failure of some of the Cook Printing Company players to make their appearance in their regular scheduled contest with the Virginians, caused them to forfeit the series to the latter. The All-Stars, a picked team, composed of different Richmond Bowling Association players, bowled instead against the Virginians, but could do nothing, losing the series by a good margin. Captain Spilling was high score, and Williams high total. The secres:

Contractor White, who is to build the stands at Lee Park, announces that he has secured most of the lumber needed for the construction work, and that he is ready to begin work just as soon as the weather man will give him a chance. It had been expected to start hauling lumber yesterday, but the continued rain prevented anything from being done. Landgraf spent most of the time in his office answering communications from ball players and advising Alfred Newnham what progress had been made. A long distance telephone message was received from President Witman, in which he announced that the affairs of the other cities of the circuit were in just as good shape as in Richmond.

An amendment to the charter of the aseball Corporation of Richmond. An amendment to the charter of the Basghall Corporation of Richmond, which controls the franchise for this city in the United States League, was granted yesterday by the State Corporation Commission. The amendment creates preferred stock of $20,000 par value, and allows the corporation to increase the par value of the common stock from $10 a share to $100 a share.

Senator Gallagher's resolution, in-troduced in the United States Senate, may sound like a joke to some people. It may never amont to anything. An investigation may never be held. But other trusts, not quite so strongly in-trenched as the baseball trust, it is true, laughed off impending investi-gations in just the same manner, until inally, they were brought to taw.

As to organized baseball, there are many of lig features which are excellent. Undoubtedly organization has been the saviour of baseball. But, like most organizations, once they taste the sweets of power, the monitorial of the affairs of organized baseball have assumed an arbitrary attitude which lg distasted in not only to a large number of men who are not within the organized ranks, but to an only within the organized ranks, but to many who are within, but who are suppressed in anything they might desire to do by the powers hisher up.

In other words, how can any set of men say to an any set of men say to an ather set of men. You shall not enter mot business in my town, because I am already here? If an attempt is made to enter that given city, despite the edict issued, every bit of power which the organization possesses is nut to work to drive out of business the invaders. If the baseball organization is not a combination in restraint of trade, stiffing, competition, then none has ever existed. There are many points in which organization is not a every player will state, without the semblance of standing in law, yet so strong is this organization that unless a ball player respects this illegal contract he is prevented from playing the game.

Lynchburg is happy in the $1,400 salary limit of the Virginia League, and says that $1,400 can buy just as good baseball as Lynchburg wants. Very probably true, but it will not buy the kind of baseball which Richmond wants or which Richmond describes. Nor, for the sake of the Lynchburg scribe, will this writer averepine for the things he has said of the United States League, even should it never play a game of baseball. He will keep up the fight for better baseball for Richmond just as long as he is able to write. He is looking for no loophole through which to crawl. He is willing to sink or swim along the lines he has set for himself—better haseball for bigger Richmond.
